A Short History of Mozambique

Malyn Newitt

This comprehensive history traces the evolution of modern Mozambique, from its early modern origins in the Indian Ocean trading system and the Portuguese maritime empire to the fifteen-year civil war that followed independence and its continued after-effects. Though peace was achieved in 1992 through international mediation, Mozambique's remarkable recovery has shown signs of stalling. Malyn Newitt explores the historical roots of Mozambican disunity and hampered development, beginning with the divisive effects of the slave trade, the drawing of colonial frontiers in the 1890s and the lasting particularities of the provinces. This book seeks to distil this complex history, and to understand why, twenty-five years after the Peace Accord, Mozambicans still remain among the poorest people in the world.

Blood Money

Stories of an ex-Rece's Missions as a Private Military Contractor in Iraq

Johan Raath

Blood Money is the first book on the Iraq war by a South African. Former Recce Johan Raath acted as a bodyguard for VIPs and sheiks, and more often, engineers who were involved in construction projects to rebuild the country after the 2003 war. His mission was not to wage war but to protect lives. Whether in the notorious Triangle of Death, in the deadly area around Ramadi, or in the faction-ridden marshlands southeast of Basra, Raath had numerous hair-raising experiences. Key to his survival was his training as a Special Forces operator. This riveting account offers a rare glimpse into the world of private military contractors and the realities of everyday life in one of the world's most violent conflict zones.

Johan Raath worked in Iraq as a private military contractor from 2004 to 2017. He is a former South African Special Forces operator. He has been involved in the private security world since the early 1990s and has been involved in security missions in over 15 countries.

Like Sodium in Water

A Memoir of Home and Heartache

Hayden Eastwood

In post-independence Zimbabwe an atmosphere of nostalgia hangs over Harare's remaining white community. Hayden Eastwood grows up in a family that sets itself apart through their politics: left is good; right is bad. Within the family's easy approach to life, Hayden and his brother, Dan, make a pact to never grow up and to never, ever be interested in girls. But as they become teenagers, their pact unravels. When Sarah arrives, the brothers become embroiled in an unspoken love triangle. While Sarah and Hayden spend increasing amounts of time together, Dan deals with feelings of rejection, and the demise of a silly promise brings with it a wave of destruction. An account of a family in crisis and an exploration of how we only abandon the lies we tell ourselves when we have no other option.

Tsk-Tsk

The Story of a Child at Large

Suzan Hackney

“Suzan Hackney grabs you by the throat and drags you into a world of runaways, reformatories and violence so casually described that you almost forget to be shocked. Meeting her might just change you forever.” – Miranda Sherry, author of Bonemeal for Roses and Black Dog Summer

From her very beginning, when Suzan is adopted by a well-to-do Pietermaritzburg family in the late 1960s, she is set on a collision course with her adoptive mother and with society. Suzan grabs her childhood life with unrestrained zeal – an exuberance that is barely tolerated by her mother, and which spirals into rebellion, landing her in a place of safety at the age of thirteen. As a ward of the state, Suzan fights to survive in an underworld of drugs and prostitution. She tells her story with a sometimes tender, often angry, frequently funny, eye in this engrossing tale of a singular childhood.

Suzan Hackney manages a retreat in the southern Drakensberg. After the events described in her memoir Tsk-Tsk, she has farmed, grown aloes and other indigenous plants, reared orphaned and injured wildlife, and raised children.

The Madiba Appreciation Club

A Chef's Story

Brett Ladds

This heart-warming book tells of a young man's coming of age at a turning point in South Africa's history. From 1994-1999, Brett Ladds served Nelson Mandela many cups of rooibos tea and his favourite meals at the presidential guesthouse in Pretoria. It was a naive and star-struck 21-year-old Ladds who started working at the guesthouse in Pretoria as an apprentice chef in the months before the first democratic election. His stories about meeting kings and queens, presidents, rock stars and even the pope are laced with his self-deprecating sense of humour. There are Russian diplomats with wild drinking habits and a Saudi-Arabian sheik who had 8 television sets installed in his room. Of Queen Elizabeth, he says it felt like talking to his gran.

Ladds's disarming honesty and humanity is bound to charm.

Brett Ladds served as the executive chef of the SA government from 1994 to 2000 under presidents Nelson Mandela and Thabo Mbeki. During this time he managed the presidential guesthouse, cooked daily for the president and his guests and catered for 54 state banquets. Today he owns Chefs@566 restaurant in Pretoria.*

Iron Fist From the Sea

Top Secret Seaborne Recce Operations (1978-1988)

Arne Söderlund & Douw Steyn

From Cabinda in Angola to Dar es Salaam in Tanzania 4 Reconnaissance Regiment conducted numerous clandestine seaborne raids during the Border War. They attacked strategic targets such as oil facilities, transport infrastructure and even Russian ships. All the while 4 Recce's existence and capability was largely kept secret. With unparalleled access to previously top secret documents, 50 operations undertaken by 4 Recce, other Special Forces units and the South African Navy are described. The daunting Operation Kerslig (1981), in which an operator died in a raid on a Luanda oil refinery and others were injured, is retold in spine-tingling detail.

The book reveals the versatility and effectiveness of this elite unit and tells of both the successes and failures of its actions.

Ystervuis uit die See

Uiters geheime seewaartse Recce-operasies (1978-1988)

Arne Söderlund & Douw Steyn

Gedurende die Grensoorlog het die Spesiale Magte se 4 Verkenning regiment tientalle klandestiene seewaartse operasies saam met die SA Vloot uitgevoer. Van Cabinda in Angola tot Dar es Salaam in Tanzanië het hulle strategiese teikens soos oliedepots, vervoerinfrastruktuur en selfs Russiese skepe aangeval.

Ystervuis uit die see beskryf 50 operasies deur 4 Recce, ander Spesmagte-eenhede en die SA Vloot. Daaronder tel Operasie Kerslig (1981), waartydens 'n operateur dood en ander beseer is in 'n aanval op 'n olieraffinadery in Luanda, en Operasie Argon (1985) toe kaptein Wynand du Toit in Angola gevange geneem is.

Die skrywers, wat self aan etlike van die operasies deelgeneem het, het ook toegang gekry tot uiters geheime dokumente wat intussen gedeklassifiseer is. Hul dramatiese vertellings wys hoe veelsydig en doeltreffend hierdie elite-eenheid was.

Born in Chains

The Diary of an Angry Born Free

Clinton Chauke

An autobiographical account of the experiences and impressions of a so-called 'born free'. Born in 1994, Chauke takes issue with this label and argues that his life has been shaped by apartheid-era social and economic inequalities. The author is Venda and grew up in abject poverty. He navigates a world of racism and tribalism and confronts urban life as a 'country bumpkin'. He deals with the highs and lows of a young life: football, friendship, religion, tradition, school, crime and drugs and becoming a man. Witty and humorous, it's a story about succeeding against all the odds.

Clinton Chauke is a social critic, a fierce debater and a Pan-Africanist at heart. He is currently working as a junior mining technician at Solar Mining Services, one of the largest manufacturers and suppliers of explosives in the world. He can be described in many words, but one label he flatly rejects is that of 'born-free' – surprising, considering he was born in 1994. Clinton argues that neither he nor the people born in and after 1994 are truly free.

WHO WILL RULE IN 2019?

Who Will Rule in 2019?

Jan-Jan Joubert

What can we expect from the 2019 election? A possible sea change! Veteran political journalist Jan-Jan Joubert uses by-election results and registration figures to show how the ANC monolith is crumbling and to project expected results. Coalitions – on a provincial and a national level – are the future of South African politics, Joubert says. But which parties are willing to go into a coalition and with whom? In exclusive interviews, key political leaders share their preferences and principles with him, as well as the do's and don'ts of coalition politics.

Joubert, who has navigated the labyrinth of South African politics for twenty years, takes the reader to the dark corners of the political stage where the deals are made and where self-interest and power play collide to tip the scales of history.

Wie Gaan Regeer in 2019?

Jan-Jan Joubert

Wat gaan in die nasionale verkiesing van 2019 gebeur? Gaan die ANC tot die oordeelsdag bly regeer? Nee, sê die gesoute politieke verslaggewer Jan-Jan Joubert.

Die ANC het dalk pas 'n nuwe leier gekry, maar steeds het die party die afgelope twee jaar in plaaslike en byverkiesings dramaties steun verloor. As die tendens voortduur, gaan die ANC waarskynlik net met 'n klein meerderheid wen of selfs onder 50% kry.

'n Koalisieregering is daarom Suid-Afrikaners se voorland, glo Joubert. Maar watter partye sal bereid wees om in koalisie te gaan? In eksklusiewe onderhoude verklap partyleiers hul voorkeure en Joubert bespreek ook die onderskeie partye se standpunte oor omstrede kwessies soos grondhervorming, arbeid en nasionalisasie.

Hy neem die leser na die agterkamers waar koalisieooreenkomste gesluit word en slegs slim politieke voetwerk oorlewing verseker.

Jan-Jan Joubert doen al sedert 2001 verslag uit die parlement. Hy was vantevore politieke redakteur van Die Burger, Beeld en Rapport en ook adjunk-redakteur: politiek, parlementêre sake en meningstukke vir die Sunday Times. Joubert is 'n gereelde gas op radio- en televisieprogramme soos Kommentaar, asook Monitor en Spektrum, op rsg, en op kykNET se Verslag in gesprek met Waldimar Pelser.

Kate Sidley

A hundred memories of the great man, as revolutionary, world leader, family figure, and more, to celebrate the 100th anniversary of his birth. The book offers insight into Mandela's life by retelling humorous, heart-warming and momentous moments from his life, roughly chronologically, drawing from his own writing and the memories of contemporaries, historians and ordinary people. 100 Mandela Moments is divided into sections, according to the many roles Mandela played in his lifetime: Mandela the school boy, Mandela the student, Mandela the lawyer, Mandela the outlaw, Mandela the prisoner, Mandela the negotiator, Mandela the statesman, Mandela the elder. Each story or "moment" encapsulates something about the man behind the legend, and the book can be read cover to cover or dipped into as inspiration strikes.

Op die spoor van 'n oorlogspeurder

Nico Moolman

Hierdie pragtige kleurboek bevat meer as 100 rare foto's uit die Anglo-Boereoorlog waarop Nico die afgelope paar jaar in sy 'speurtogte' as leke-historikus afgekom het. Dit sluit in etlike glasnegatiewe uit die oorlog waarvoor hy 'n spesiale skandeerder moes laat maak het om dit te digitaliseer.

Die foto's bied 'n baie intieme blik op Boerekrygers en Britse soldate te velde en in hul kampe en bevat wonderlike detail oor praktiese werklikhede van die oorlog. Tussendeur die foto's vertel Nico die verhale van sy ontdekkingstogte oor die jare. Van die dagboek van 'n Boerekrygsgevangene wat op die vullishoop van die DBV gevind is tot die oorlogslagveld wat hy herontdek het.

This book contains a selection of rare photos from the Anglo-Boer War, including a number that have been beautifully colourised. It also tells the fascinating story about the author's far-reaching efforts to preserve these photos and objects from the war.

Nico Moolman is a popular author and collector of all things related to the Anglo-Boer War. He is the author of The Boer Whore that was reworked into the top seller Kamphoer by Francois Smith. In the Kill Zone

Surviving as a private military contractor in Iraq

Neil Reynolds

When Neil Reynolds was first asked whether he'd like to work in Iraq as a private military contractor, he didn't even know where it was on the map. But he would quickly learn the lay of the land and what it entails working in one of the world's most violent conflict zones. When he left for the Middle East at the end of 2003, he was part of one of the first groups of South Africans to start private military security companies in Iraq. In this honest and often humorous account he tells of all the everyday and major challenges they had to face: from finding a braai-able chop, a safe hotel to stay in and buying guns on the black market and dodging bullets on several hair-raising protection missions. He also tells the story of four South African colleagues who were kidnapped and killed in Baghdad in 2006.

Death and Taxes

How SARS made hitmen, drug dealers & tax dodgers pay their dues

Johan van Loggerenberg

As South Africans are seeing and feeling the effects of key state institutions' inability to fight organised crime, bestselling author Johann van Loggerenberg (Rogue) explain how the tax authority once built up but then lost their crime-fighting ability. In telling how major tax evaders like Billy Rautenbach, Dave King and Barry Tannenbaum were caught, he also shows how the power struggle between different organs of state and the phenomenon of state capture slowly started crippling SARS.

Johann van Loggerenberg is the co-author of the bestseller Rogue: The Inside Story of SARS's Elite Crime-busting Unit. He joined SARS in 1998 and ultimately resigned as Group Executive: Tax and Customs Enforcement Investigations in 2015.*

Since then he has been consulting for local law, auditing and forensic firms and international anti-organised crime organisations. He has been an active participant in analysing the much-publicised "Gupta leaks" emails for a variety of clients.

He is currently studying taxation, tax administration and commercial crimes at various local and international academic institutions.

Melusi's Everyday Zulu

An examination of the reigns of the eight Zulu kings from 1816 to the present; from King Shaka, the renowned founder of the Zulu kingdom, to King Goodwill Zwelithini whose role is little more than ceremonial – if well-paid. In the course of this investigation, well-respected and widely published historian John Laband, places the Zulu monarchy in the context of African kingship and tracks and analyses the trajectory of the Zulu kings from independent and powerful pre-colonial African rulers to largely powerless traditionalist figures in post-apartheid South Africa.

Ton Vosloo is een van die mees gerekende koerant- en sakemanne in Suid-Afrika. Onder sy voorsitterskap het Naspers van 'n plaaslike mediamaatskappy tot 'n internasionale mediareus gegaan.

Oor Grense is sy memoir oor sy lewe in die koerantwêreld in 'n tyd toe Naspers nog baklei het om die posisie as markleier en die koerante binne sy stal baie na aan die politici van die dag gestaan het. Met sy kenmerkende humor vertel Ton Vosloo die storie van Naspers, en van sy uiteenlopende ervarings as koerantman en sakeleier.

Waar die groep se fokus aanvanklik slegs op die drukmedia was, het die maatskappy sedert die 1980's al hoe meer op digitale media begin fokus. Vandag het die Naspers-groep finansiële belange regoor die wêreld.

Across Boundaries: A life in the media at a time of change by Ton Vosloo

Ton Vosloo's remarkable career in the media spanned 59 fractious years in South Africa's history. During this turbulent time, South Africa went through the great transition from Afrikaner Nationalist rule to an ANC government. At the helm of the leading press group founded in 1913 to support nascent Afrikaner nationalism, Vosloo's story is a remarkable one. It's not just a newspaper and political story but also one of singular business and commercial success as the Naspers Group evolved from a print group to an electronic company with significant investments across the world.

In Across Boundaries, Vosloo gives his account of these remarkable times with wry humour and a journalist's deft pen.

Exceptional results have been achieved in the South African Special Forces with small teams rather than larger, more conventional groups. In the business world the same principle applies – a small team has a better chance of completing a project successfully, within budget and in time. This book speaks to young as well as experienced team leaders across managerial levels – from junior team leaders right up to seasoned project managers and CEOs. Lessons from Special Forces real-life operations – told in captivating detail by former Recce Koos Stadler – are translated in vocational terms and applied in the business environment through the pen of established and highly successful consultant Anton Burger. The book addresses salient issues, e.g. what are the characteristics of an effective team, how do employers select the right people for a successful team and how do you lead such a team?

Louis Botha: A Man Apart by Richard Steyn

R260 | 978-1-86842-922-6 | 978-1-86842-923-3 (e) | TPB 233x152mm (P) | World rights | 252pp

Louis Botha was the first Prime Minister of the Union of South Africa, a globally respected figure. He and Jan Smuts were a double act, before Botha's untimely death in 1919, aged only 57. In the early stages of the Anglo-Boer War, Botha had been a brilliant – and the youngest – Boer general and won significant victories over the British. When the British overwhelmed the Boers, Botha along with Smuts encouraged peace between English and Afrikaner and led the country to Union in 1910 and dominion status. Botha was a big-hearted and generous man who showed magnanimity in his dealings with all. At the Peace of Versailles, representing South Africa, he pleaded unsuccessfully for magnanimity towards the Germans. In Louis Botha: A Man Apart, Richard Steyn once again illuminates the life of another great South African.

The Last Words of Rowan du Preez: Murder and Conspiracy on the Cape Flats by Simone Haysom

In 2012 Angy Peter was an activist for the Social Justice Coalition, the NGO that led the charge for a Commission of Inquiry into the state of policing in Khayelitsha, Cape Town's most notorious township. Angy was vocally against vigilante violence. But mere weeks before the start of the Commission, she was accused of murdering a petty neighbourhood criminal, Rowan Du Preez. This book takes the reader into the heart of a mystery: is Angy Peter being harassed by the police and blamed for a murder she did not commit, or is she, as the State argued, 'a wolf in sheep's clothing', who won a young man's trust then turned against him, in the most brutal way? Simone Haysom spent four years meticulously researching this case and the issues which surrounded it. The result is a book driven by a strong narrative arc and interweaved with expert opinion and research into crime, vigilantism, and the state of policing in the townships of South Africa.

Berlyn, 1933. Die hardebaard speurder Bernie Günther word deur 'n miljoenêr-sakeman ingeroep om die moord op sy dogter en skoonseun op te los en waardevolle juwele wat tydens die inbraak gesteel is, te vind. Hy betree 'n donker onderwêreld waar misdaad, korrupsie en onderhandelinge met Nazi-leiers aan die orde van die dag is. Smerige nagklubs, smeulende filmsterre, oorvol lykshuise en onderonsies met die Gestapo lei uiteindelik tot 'n skokkende onthulling. In Afrikaans vertaal deur Elsa Silke.

Berlin, 1933. Detective Bernie Günther is summoned by a millionaire industrialist to track down the murderer of his daughter and son-in-law, killed during the robbery of a priceless diamond necklace. Two Weeks in November: The Coup that Toppled Mugabe by Douglas Rogers

R270 | TPB 233x152mm (P) | Southern Africa rights

In November 2017, intending a brief visit to his family in Zimbabwe, travel writer Douglas Rogers is accidentally caught up in a real life Game of Thrones – the surreal coup to topple President Robert Mugabe. While comrades-turned-political rivals vie for power in a life and death struggle, Rogers watches on as a comic and sinister atmosphere descends: here is a country where a coup is not a coup, a resignation speech is not a resignation speech, and a population on the brink of the political abyss can't stop laughing.

Drawing on his personal experience of the time, and subsequent interviews with those who carried out the coup or were removed by it, Rogers pieces together the inside story of what happened. And he asks the ultimate question: can what turned out to be one of the most professional, precise and even courteous military-political operations in African history be a harbinger of a new Zimbabwe, and perhaps even a new African politics?
